

Good to know

Before paddling out:

When you paddle a kayak, always bring a change of clothes in some kind of dry bag. Paddling is a physical activity. Make sure you bring a water bottle or two and a snack to quench that thirst and get some extra energy on over the day tours. When leaving for several days it becomes even more important to bring enough water for cooking etc. If you want to bring electronics, we recommend a proper dry bag. We offer small ones if needed. Bigger bags and small unnecessary things (car key etc.) could be stored at the office during daytime.

We think a lot about the environment. Please help us to succeed to be sustainable and to keep the area tidy. Use our litter sorting containers after the paddle tour.

Check the weather forecast. Some days offer a little bit of both when it comes to sun and rain. So why not be prepared for both? Bring both sun screen and a rain suit. The weather here in Grundsund is often better than what is described in the weather report. If you want an eye on the ground, you can always give us a call regarding the weather. If you find the weather too rough, we can always drive you to a more sheltered starting point if you like. But, too hard winds will always be an accepted cancelation argument.

General get to information:

Toilets and showers are located beside the car parking area by the eastern quay. Finding a parking during the summer season is sometimes hard. We recommend you to arrive at the Eastern Quai to unpack your paddling equipment at the Center and then park your car beside the local school or in front of the sports hall called Bottnahallen. Both a 10-minute walk from the quay.
